

MINERS HOLD OUT FOR CLOSED SHOP CONCESSION

Want to be Prepared to Face With Solid Ranks a Strike in the Bituminous Mines Next April—Public to Foot the Bill in Any Event at Rate of 80 Cents a Ton.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—The hard coal showdown comes today. This afternoon Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania met the anthracite operators and miners in joint conference to determine whether the nation is to witness another long and disastrous coal strike, or whether the 155,000 miners are to return to the collieries.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
South Amboy, N. J., Sept. 7.—
Three men are known to be dead, several persons are missing and believed to have perished and 48 others were injured, some fatally, in a series of terrific blasts which wrecked a powder barge fleet and threatened
South Amboy with destruction by fire.

The dead:
Winston Taylor.
James Gillen.
An unidentified man.
Investigations were under way today to fix cause and responsibility for the explosion.
The explosions started in a car of a long freight train moving slowly over the bridge of the New York and Long Island railroad and the resultant fire spread to other cars and barges causing other explosions.
Three barges sank. Firemen from six cities aided in extinguishing the flames.

RED CROSS RUSHES RELIEF TO JAPAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 7.—While the work of completing the Japanese relief fund is continuing, Red Cross officials here are moving swiftly to meet the immediate needs outlined by Ambassador Woods in his latest report to the state department.

Under the personal direction of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, plans were worked out to secure and ship at once tinned fish, clothing, underwear, shoes, galvanized iron, lumber and other materials for temporary shelter for the stricken people.

Orders went out today to Pacific coast cities, to accompany all shipments of rice and other food with lumber to shelter the provisions when they arrive in Yokohama.

At a meeting this morning attended by Secretary Hoover, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Elliott Wadsworth and Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross, the following action was taken.

1. Units of the Red Cross emergency buying and shipping machinery in San Francisco and Seattle ordered to obtain fastest possible shipment for materials purchased.

3. Directed that a cargo of 2,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs and 4,500,000 feet of lumber be sent at once from Seattle in the fastest available space.

4. Approved the speedy delivery of 6,000.000 pounds of foodstuffs from San Francisco in space available there.

5. Purchase of 200,000 suits of underwear for men, women and children of Japan, and 300,000 pairs of socks was reported for immediate shipment, the coming cold weather making this necessary.

The cargoes from San Francisco and Seattle will be made up of fish, milk and other food commodities. It is expected the Seattle shipment will contain 200,000 pounds of milk and 2,000,000 pounds of fish in addition to the lumber.

A donation of 16,000 pairs of shoes from an institution was reported to the Red Cross.

REGISTRATION FOR PART TIME SCHOOL

The conference will "make a break" on the check-off issue. Full recognition of the union, as differently interpreted by the two sides again has become the dominating factor.

will take place at school No. 5 in the basement room on the O'Neil street side of the building on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 12, 13 and 14, from 11:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Pupils will please use the O'Neil street entrance.

"Under duress, the operators have accepted without qualification the four points of settlement as offered by Governor Pinchot—a settlement which, to quote an operator spokesman, will add $43,500,000 to the nation's domestic coal bill, or a minimum increase of 80 cents a ton to the public."

All employed boys and girls of the ages of 14, 15 and 16 years are required by law to attend part time school at least four hours each week. Failure to register may result in dismissal from employment. Employers are responsible for the attendance upon part time school of minors in their employ who are 14, 15 and 16 years of age.

M. J. MICHAEL,

The miners are blocking the road. They accept two of the four points but continue to hold out for a "dollars and cents" increase for day men, the low paid men of the industry—and for the check off.

It was learned, however, that the miners will back down on their demand for a greater increase for the day men, accepting the flat ten per cent for the entire industry. If they are given the closed shop.

The closed shop has become morthan an issue of the anthracite strike. It was pointed out today facing the almost certain prospect of a walkout in the bituminous fields next April, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, is determined that he shall be prepared for that crisis with a 100 per cent union organization with all its influence and funds. Only through the check-off or some other form of "complete union recognition" can he be sure of such a weapon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 7.—Reports from all parts of the country indicate that well over $2,000,000 already has been raised toward the $5,000,000 fund for relief work in Japan, it was announced today at national headquarters of the American Red Cross.

It was not expected the miners would break on the check off demand. Rather, Lewis is prepared to use the day men increase as a smoke screen behind which he can wage a final fight for the coveted prize of recognition. If the operators would agree "to hire nobody but union men," Lewis, it was learned, would abandon the check off demand—it would even give up the increased wage for day men.

TULSA BUSINESS MEN TOLD KLAN RULE MUST END
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 7.—Representatives of the Tulsa business community met today to discuss the recent activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the city. The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce and was attended by a large number of prominent business men. The speakers emphasized the need for an end to the Klan's rule and the importance of maintaining law and order in the city.

qualified statement they will never agree to either the check off or any other plan by which they would be denied the right to employ any men they may desire.

In the operators' camp today it was learned that the ten per cent wage increase was accepted only because Governor Pinchot had forced the employers in a position where they would either have to pay this figure he named or face public opposition in the inevitable continuance of the strike. The operators, how-atives of Tulsa business interests were understood to be returning to this city today with Governor Walton's terms for the removal of national guard troops, which have been enforcing state martial law in Tulsa. Tulsa business men discussed the situation with the governor at the executive mansion last night.

The public, it was made clear, must pay the bill—eighty cents a lease on every ton of coal.

Resignation of certain Tulsa city officials and turning in of all Ku Klux Klan membership cards by police officers belonging to the Klan were demanded at the conference, it was said. Adjutant General Markham was conferring with the governor, Oklahoma City today.

2 The Evening Family Tale MARY GRAHAM BONNER ZOO BIRDS

"I'm the white-headed sea eagle and I'm from South Africa."

Billie Brownie was visiting some of the birds in a zoo. And they were telling him about themselves.

"Yes," continued the white-headed sea eagle, "and now I'm here. Of course you can see that for yourself. But it seems a long distance from South Africa, doesn't it?"

"My way and the family way has always been to capture our food alive—oh is what we like."

"And you can also see that I am beautiful. That, too, is a family characteristic."

"My back feathers are of a lovely slate gray color and my head is white, as my name tells anyone."

"Under part of my tail it is white and I have white feathers upon my legs."

"I agree with you," said Billie Brownie. "You are a very striking, handsome bird."

"Thank you, thank you," said the white-headed sea eagle.

"I am the Australian Eagle. You see I have brown feathers. And I, too, am very beautiful. I have a white head and breast and at the back of my neck are white feathers too."

"I am full of handsome feathers—perhaps I should say that I am covered with handsome feathers."

"Yes," laughed Billie Brownie, "I think that would be more correct."

"I," said the next creature upon whom Billie Brownie called, "am the Asiatic White Crane. I live in the open country, and we are to be found in pairs or in small family groups."

"We are dainty. You see I am white and gray. I like pretty, simple colors."

"Fish is what we are fed. They say that very little is known about our nesting ways when wild and it is a family secret as a matter of fact."

"We keep our home nests very secret."

Then Billie Brownie saw a pelican swallowing a fish and it seemed as though he could see right into the pelican's throat in the sunlight.

The pelicans were going about with their bits of fish and they were chattering and making a great deal of noise.

When they stopped making a great deal of noise they began to flap about and soon they had a nap.

Before dinner they had been shouting about dinner time, which would soon be with them. When dinner came they shouted with joy about that and now they were through chattering and flapping their wings and were ready for pleasant pelican dreams.

The birds were folding their feathers so nicely on their backs, spreading out their wings and making themselves look their very best.

They had not paid any attention to the pelicans when they had wiggled down their food—for that was just how it had looked to Billie Brownie. Nor had they chattered as much as the pelicans had.

"I am the black-necked stork," said the next one upon whom Billie Brownie called.

"My neck is really more of a peacock blue color than it is black, but I suppose the person who first named us was more or less color-blind."

"At any rate such is the name, and too, I suppose some members of the family may have necks which are more black than blue."

"We come from India and from northern Australia. We're very shy and very wary of strangers."

"We go about all by ourselves when in the free state, though we do go in pairs, too."

"Don't you think our long and very thin pink legs are quite interesting and unusual?"

"Indeed I do," agreed Billie Brownie. He had been particularly fascinated by their long and very, very thin pink legs.

"I'm the American Flamingo," said the next bird. "We live along the Atlantic coasts of tropical America."

"When we are wild our colors are more wonderful and more brilliant. We lose some of the brilliant coloring when we're in the zoo. Such is the Flamingo family way."

And then Billie watched the keeper feed the Pacific Gull and after feeding him he gave the gull's beak a nice little affectionate shake, for he was a great pet of the keeper.

But Billie Brownie had to leave then. He was invited to come again, however, another time, to hear more of their stories.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Don't worry when you stumble; remember, a worm is the only thing that can't fall down.

THIS IS SANDWICH SEASON

There is a group of aesthetic sandwiches which may appeal to those who like those things, made from bread and butter with flowers.

For a clover sandwich the crust is trimmed off from the loaf and packed in a stone jar in a nest of sweet clean clover blossoms. The butter is wrapped in cheesecloth and also covered with clover and allowed to stand over night or longer in a cool place. The next morning the bread and butter will be flavored with clover and if the hostess' plans make it desirable the plates are decorated with sprays of clover and leaves.

For more practical sandwiches which the more human of us enjoy, the following will be more filling:

Clubhouse Sandwiches.—These are usually served with freshly-toasted bread. Put on top of a piece of toast that is well buttered, a thin layer of broiled ham; on top of this a slice of sour pickle; on top of this a slice of roast chicken or turkey; then a leaf of lettuce in the center of which is placed a spoonful of mayonnaise. Cover with another slice of toast. Press well together and cut into triangles making two good-sized sandwiches.

Fruit Mince Meat No. 2.—Take one pound each of raisins, dried peaches and prunes; one-half pound of dried apricots and the same of citron—the citron mellow may be used—one-half pound of mixed orange and lemon peel, shredded fine, two quarts of cranberries. Put all of the above through the meat chopper, using the coarsest knife. Place in a preserving kettle and add one quart of honey and one and one-half pounds of brown sugar. Cook very slowly for one hour, then remove, cool and add five pounds of apples, cored and chopped, without removing the peeling; add one pound of finely chopped suet, one pound of seedless raisins, four teaspoonsful each of cloves, allspice, three of ginger, four teaspoonsful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of nutmeg. Cover with one quart of cider, which has been brought to the boiling point. Mix well and store in a cool, dry place.

Willow. Sept. 6.—A few friends were lately entertained at Raymond Ford's Thursday evening with music and dancing. At eleven o'clock a luncheon was served. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hayemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilber, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hoyt, Mrs. Clarence Wolven, the Messrs. Chintz and Cretonne Used in Decorations

When chintz and cretonne are viewed from the standpoint of their possibilities of color effect, any preconceived notion of such materials being suited to only certain rooms is replaced by the knowledge that they are really mediums only. As such, they may be managed so that any degree of suitability may be obtained. Suitability may govern the type of design and color effect to be chosen, that is all.

Suppose you wish a room that subtly displays colors dark and restful, without, however, showing any flavor of gloom. Haunt the chintz counters until you find a piece that satisfies you by reason of its deep mauve background, made more quiet and restful in effect by the contrasting notes of turquoise, rose and yellow. These will later furnish spice when reproduced in the accents of the room scheme.

Such a piece recently seen had this color combination. The mauve background was formed by an all-over, close-set pattern of flat mauve flowers and foliage, so distributed that hardly any of the putty-colored background was visible. On this mauve ground were graceful sprays of rose and yellow flowers in brilliant turquoise jars, not especially noticeable in themselves, but creating a delightful harmony awaiting further development.

This living room had walls of putty color, and the floor was covered by a large plain rug of taupe. Long side drapes of the cretonne were hung at the windows, decoratively lined with turquoise green. Plain mauve velours made the straight, tight valances. The glass curtains were of plain ecru fishnet, untrimmed, and made with deep hems. Much of the furniture in this room was walnut—the desk and the refectory table. The legs and arms of some of the upholstered chairs were also walnut.

The sofa, one overstuffed chair and one of the walnut chairs were upholstered in deep mauve velours. Another chair was done in taupe, another in soft ashes-of-roses. The pillows were severally covered with the cretonne, plain taupe and deep turquoise. The lamps were shaded in soft old-yellow silk.—The Designer.

Stairway Closet May Be Installed in Wall

In the small house, not built on the central hall plan, the problem of finding a place to hang wraps as one enters confronts the home owner. Too often they are thrown over the backs of chairs and couches. A stairway closet installed in the wall on the landing solves the problem. Although it must necessarily be of shallow depth, sufficient room is given within its double doors to hang coats and hats and to place umbrellas. Two small drawers below are excellent receptacles for rubbers. If the doors are provided with mirrors, the closet will be especially attractive.

The height of this closet may be six feet, width two and one-half feet and depth five inches. The closet is built flat with the wall, plaster and laths being left out in this space.

Egyptian Headdress and Bobbed Tresses

Many are the flappers who refuse to give up the comfortable bobbed style of wearing the hair, regardless of the edict of fashion. Yet they make a compromise with dame fashion by wearing ribbons about their heads. Some prefer the plain ribbon bands, but others are finding greater distinction in adapting the Egyptian head-dress to the bobbed hair. This is readily done with ribbons. A ribbon two inches wide is used as a band and ornamented on either side with protruding earflaps made by gathering a few inches of ribbon. Likewise ribbon loops on either side falling over the ears add a distinctive feature to the headdress.

Alpacas Fashionable. Alpaca, besides being a very fashionable material for coats and sports costumes, is also very practical. It does not wrinkle and sheds dust better than any other fabric. It is the ideal material to wear while traveling.

PRESENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

The latest Metro picture starring the Murray is by far the best that has been made. "Jazzmania" is its title and it won frequent outbursts of spontaneous applause at Keene's, where it was shown for the first time yesterday. The greater part of the action takes place in the tiny kingdom of Jazzmania, but it shifts to different parts of the world—to Paris, Monte Carlo and New York. In this manner the quaint customs of the imaginative kingdom are contrasted with the modern civilization of the leading cities. Miss Murray plays Queen Monon, a pleasure-loving, piquant personality, who escapes from her kingdom to avert a revolution, and returns to it when her people adore her. Jazzmania is showing tonight and Saturday.

Dante, famous European magician, will appear under the management of Thurston. America's master magician for 3 days beginning Monday night has a pair of hands as flexible and dexterous as Paderewski's. He and his manager regard them as valuable as the famous pianist's and just before he left New York for his coast-to-coast tour, had insured for twenty-five thousand dollars—five thousand a finger. They are long and slender and are marvelously deft. Featured in his performance are "The Ghost of the Man," psychic phenomena of the stage. You may ask her any question, and she is said to be unequalled as an exponent of mental telepathy. Alvin's Musical Wonders, the Mysterious Chinese Fountain of myriad streams, the Phantom Woman, the Oracle, the Great East Indian Rope Trick, the Vanishing Piano, the Lady and the Lion, the Spirit Cabinet and score of other weird, mystical, burlesque-Kellar illusions and mysteries bordering on the supernatural. The final showings of the Paramount picture, "The Purple Highway," which opened at the Orpheum theatre yesterday, will take place this evening. Madge Kennedy is featured and she is supported by Monte Blue, Vincent Coleman, Pedro de Cordoba and others. The story is intensely appealing and the production is satisfying in every respect. Also the musical comedy, "Broadway Scandals."

A Paramount picturization of the story of the famous play, "The Purple Highway," will be featured at the auditorium today. Wallace Reid, Agnes Ayres and Mary McAvoy are featured. There are many comedy scenes in the picture.

To Present a Purse.
 The Rev. Edward J. Higgins of the St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, will be presented with a farewell purse by old parishioners during the transmission of the boxing bouts at Peter's Hall, Rosendale, this evening.

TANNERSVILLE HERE SUNDAY

The Colonial Baseball Club will be seen in action here on Sunday at the Fair Grounds, no games being scheduled for today or Saturday. The Tannersville team will furnish the opposition. The Schirlick men have the edge of games on the mountains 5 to 4.

New players will be seen in the locals' line up due to the injuries of some of the players and the loss of the services of Ferris, who will be with the White Plains team. Kelly Herbst, who regularly plays with the D. and H. Generals, may play with his regular team. Just what players will appear here is not known at this time.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PLANS BIG DAY SEPT. 8

The Albany Avenue Baptist Sunday School is planning for a big day Saturday, September 8th, beginning at 10:30 a. m. at Forsyth Park. The invitation is a wide one, extending to the friends of the church and members and friends of the Sunday school. The plan is for each individual or family to bring their own lunch. There are plenty of tables for all those who come and it is expected that luncheon will take place shortly after 12 o'clock.

In the afternoon all kinds of athletic sports will be entered into and much interest will be shown with the great variety of competitors. It is likely that a ball game with the different classes will be scheduled, and a pleasant time enjoyed by all. There have been some automobiles offered for use and those who would like to attend the picnic will telephone 1100 and as far as possible all persons who will find it impossible to get there otherwise will go by automobile.

Ice cream and soft drinks will be on sale during the afternoon.

HERMANCIE GIVES PRIZE PEACHES TO UNFORTUNATE

L. M. Hermancie of Ulster Park delivered this morning at McBride's drug store four baskets of fancy peaches, the top grade kind that he sells at $3 a basket, to be distributed as a gift from Mr. Hermancie to the Home for the Aged, the Industrial Home, the Tuberculosis Hospital and the City Home. The fruit attracted much attention at the drug store as it was of a size and quality never seen except in the highest grade markets in large cities. Mr. Hermancie is running "the little white house by the wayside" again this season at Ulster Park and selling nearly all of his crop there, having established such a reputation for quality and prices that buyers come to him from far and near.

NEW YORK DAY AT STATE FAIR

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Syracuse, Sept. 7.—An address by Governor Smith, special musical entertainment, a parade of the state's best purebred and grade cattle and other features, will mark "New York Day" at the National Dairy Exposition, which will be held on the state fair grounds here Oct. 5 to 13, as one of the most interesting of the entire exposition. Tuesday, October 9, has been designated "New York Day" by W. E. Skinner, general manager.

Arrangements are being worked out by Mr. Skinner together with members of the New York state committee, of which Berne A. Pyke, commissioner of farms and markets, is chairman, and M. C. Burritt, director of extension at the state college of agriculture, Ithaca, is secretary. Because New York state is host this year for the first time to the dairy show, officials are determined to make the day an outstanding success at the exposition.

Governor Smith, who has notified Mr. Skinner he will cooperate with him in every way possible to aid the day show in carrying the message of the state on inspiring messages of greater prosperity through improved methods, is expected to deliver the keynote address in the huge $500,000 coliseum which he took such an active part in securing that the exposition might be held in the state.

Notice of "New York Day" will be sent to every farm organization in every county in the state, including farm and home bureaus, Pomona and subordinate granges, dairy-men's associations and others, in order that plans for groups of farmers to visit the show on that day may be worked out on plenty of time. Mr. Skinner said today he has already received several notices that special trains and automobile parties will bring large groups of dairy farmers and breeders from different counties.

One of the most unusual and interesting features will be the huge parade of New York state entries on "New York Day." They will be assembled in the huge coliseum and led past the spectators, giving a striking and inspiring living picture of the wealth and greatness of the state's dairy industry. It is hoped animals representing every county will be included in the pageant.

Other features are a special musical program, exhibits devoted especially to showing New York dairy farmers how they can in a practical and inexpensive manner adopt methods for increasing production of milk on their farms, build up their dairy herds, improve feeding methods and generally build up their business to greater "profitability." The state department of farms and markets will have a big exhibit of special interest to state dairymen, depicting common sense ideas of developing the dairy business, especially adapted to use on New York state farms.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Kurtz entertained several guests over Labor Day from New York and Brooklyn.

Mrs. F. L. Metcalf is in Vassar Hospital. She was operated on Friday and is resting as comfortably as can be expected. Her many friends are awaiting the good news of her speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitley and Miss Ruth have returned from a trip to Sweden and other points abroad. They had a delightful trip. They were five days only on return trip, but ten going over. They realize "Home, sweet home," is the place of all. Yet they had a grand time while abroad visiting, shopping and sight seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Kernay of Brooklyn spent the week end and Labor Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paltridge. Mr. Kernay is a brother of Mrs. Paltridge. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopper.

Mrs. Philip Schantz leaves the last of this month for a trip to Seattle, Washington. She goes as a representative of the P. E. O. Sisterhood state convention. We hear Mrs. Freeston accompanies her as representative. Some trip for them, and we know a very delightful one.

Chester Atkins spent a few days in New York city last week. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carpenter of Poughkeepsie were week end and Labor Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright Lent have as their guests, the Rev. and Mrs. D. G. Lawson of New Milford, Pa.

Miss Sue Leht, who has spent her vacation on Grand street with her parents, has returned to Richmond Hill, where she teaches school.

Mrs. L. M. Thatcher has spent some time recently in Connecticut with friends.

G. W. Gandy has been in the Adirondacks for a short time fishing, but we do not know how many of the funny tribe he caught.

Alvah DuBois and family have been spending some time in Milton. They reside in Bayonne, N. J. He has not had a vacation in 25 years. He used to reside in Highland. We think vacations ought to come every year instead of once in 25.

Captain R. H. Decker attended the fair at Rhinebeck the past week. His brother, A. V. Decker, of Pleasant Valley, also attended the fair. Louis Palmer was in Rhinebeck Friday last for the fair. A number from this place attended.

John Graham, who had his knee badly hurt at the ferry, is improving slowly. We hope soon to see him around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ell Merritt entertained the members of the official board of the M. E. Church at their home Wednesday evening, September 5. There was a fine attendance and a great deal of business taken up. The social at the close was enjoyed by the men. The hostess served appetizing and delicious refreshments and late all left for their respective homes, wishing for another meeting soon at the Merritt home.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hitchcock are at home now. They have spent several weeks at Hunter Lake and feel very much rested out and ready now to take up work with a vim.

Mrs. P. Somany of Grand street leaves soon to spend a month with her sister, who resides in Lynn, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schermerhorn and daughter expect to move to Michigan in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Clearwater had guests last week from Beacon. They all enjoyed a day at Lake Mohonk as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clearwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Wert of Maple avenue, have returned home after a week most delightfully spent in the Adirondacks.

H. E. Wilcox had a very successful Dollar Day Sale last week, and the crowd say "Let's have another one." Mr. Wilcox is a careful and tasteful buyer, and his goods can be relied on as first class, and you save by purchasing there and know you get your money's worth every time.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud C. Decker of Westchester, motored to this place and spent the week-end and holiday with Captain and Mrs. R. H. Decker.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Atkins and two daughters spent Sunday in New Paltz with Mr. and Mrs. Deyo Atkins.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Kurtz entertained several guests from New York city and New Jersey over the week end and on Labor Day.

Mrs. B. Johnston and Mrs. Lacey entertained recently Mr. and Mrs. W. Dickinson of Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Herrington had recent guests from Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron DuBois of Maple avenue have had guests the past week from Portland, Me., and Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Henry Hovet and Mrs. J. C. Leo had week end guests from New York at their summer home on Maple avenue.

Mrs. Emma Davis and son LeVerne have returned after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. George Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Arland Sanderson of Grahamsville have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Millard Everett on Washington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Contant had a clambake at their home recently and had a jolly party of relatives and friends who enjoyed the good things to eat to their hearts content.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Overbaugh, who has been helping at the home of Mrs. Rogers during the scarlet fever siege has returned to her home in Saugerties.

Miss Marguerite Cordes and Mrs. John Carn took a joy ride on Wednesday of last week.

The Rev. M. N. Kalemjean of Three Bridges, N. J., with his son and daughter are spending their vacation at the home of Samuel Myer and incidentally visiting relatives and friends in the vicinity.

Mrs. Peter Minkler and her sister have the sympathy of the people here in the loss of their brother, Christopher Becker, who was a former resident of this place.

Herbert Ward of New Jersey spent the week end with his brother at

S. P. Cole's home, returning to his home on Monday night.

Mrs. Effie Benjamin of Saugerties was a Sunday guest with her sister, Mrs. Charles J. Hommel.

Mr. Mendoza spent Saturday here with his wife and daughter Mrs.

Grenlich, taking them back to Brooklyn with him on Sunday afternoon and locking his house up for the season.

Almost all the summer residents have returned to their respective homes ending another vacation season.

The Rev. Mr. Noot gave an excellent discourse on the "Breadth of Religion" and it was encouraging to see so many there. Still there are many seats empty and waiting to be filled.

HYGIENE OF THE WORKSHOP

The effect of proper sanitary conditions of the workshop in promoting the health of the worker and their consequent influence upon industrial production was emphasized by Dr. Leland E. Cofer in this week's radio address broadcast under the auspices of the state department of health from the General Electric Company's station WGY at Schenectady.

Taking as his subject the hygiene of the workshop, Dr. Cofer, who was formerly health officer of the port of New York, and was recently appointed director of the division of industrial hygiene of the New York State Department of Labor, declared that if the shop contains plenty of elbow room, is well lighted, is well ventilated, is not too warm in summer, is comfortably heated in winter, and has the proper toilet and washing facilities for the workers, then it may be said that the hygiene of that particular workshop is good.

"On the other hand," said Dr. Cofer, "if the workshop contains too much machinery crowding the operatives to work too closely together or under personal discomfort or if in addition the light is poor or is too glaring, and if in winter the shop is cold and drafty, or in summer hot and humid or moist, and if the wash-room and toilet are located in a dark and dirty place then the hygiene of that workshop is bad. Sometimes the hygiene of the workshop is partly good and partly bad, either because the employer has failed to maintain the proper conditions, or because the workers do not do their part in keeping the shop surroundings right.

"What I have thus far said refers solely to the ordinary workshop with which all of us are more or less familiar. In those factories where irritating dusts and poisonous fumes and the like are generated during the manufacturing processes, it is necessary to have special mechanical devices installed for the protection of the workers. Such industries are the so-called 'dangerous trades' and the workers therein are liable to what are known as the occupational diseases. As an example of such diseases may be mentioned lead poisoning to which painters, printers and workers in factories where galvanic batteries are manufactured are liable. Workmen engaged in tunneling suffer from what is known as 'compressed air' or 'caisson' disease. This is characterized by cramps, paralysis and so forth caused by the action on the body of the compressed air in the caissons. Divers also suffer from this disease. In the leather industry persons who handle hides and wool may be infected with a dangerous disease called anthrax. Workers who handle acids, lime, tar, creosote, petroleum and dyes are liable to eczema, ulcers, cracked hands, boils and cancer. Irritating dusts from stone cutting, and the grinding of metals may cause inflammation of the respiratory passages and predispose to tuberculosis. Excessive light rays and steel foundry glare cause eye strain, while loud noises and vibrations cause deafness and so on.

"To regulate or correct the workshop conditions which affect workers it has been necessary to develop a branch of general medicine known as industrial hygiene. The responsibility for the carrying out of the principles of industrial hygiene lies on three groups. The state, the employers and the employees.

The state acts as a go-between to protect both employer and employee. This is affected by what is known as the State Labor Law and the Workmen's Compensation Act. In the Department of Labor of the State of New York there is a Division of Industrial Hygiene which is vested with the duty of aiding the Division of Factory Inspection in enforcing the provisions of the Labor Code governing the installation of devices in factories and workrooms for removing dangerous dusts, fumes and gases. Besides this, it is engaged in making investigations into those conditions in industry which affect the health of workers.

"The employer's responsibility generally speaking is, to provide adequate ventilation.

"To remove the dust and injurious fumes or gases by special mechanical devices.

"To provide every possible device to prevent accident.

"To enquire into the comfort and happiness of his employees—

(a) Have they enough light? Does it come from the right direction? If too little light does it produce eye strain? If too much light does the glare cause fatigue?

(b) Has the body position of the worker been properly adjusted to his work? Is his bench too high or too low? If all the benches or chairs are of the same height are the workers of the same height? Have the workers fair toilet facilities? Have they facilities for washing their hands before they eat?

(c) Is any physical examination made of applicants for employment?

"It is well to remember that a healthy man who likes his work is likely to do his best. The healthy worker is contented. On the other hand the unhealthy worker usually is dissatisfied and contributes to what is known as labor turnover, which is the losing of one employee and the breaking-in of a new man.

"The breaking-in of a new hand is expensive to both employer and employee and costs anywhere from $25 to $250 a job or even more.

"A satisfied man is less likely to leave his job than a dissatisfied man. The worker will be satisfied just in proportion to the effort made by his employer to make his surroundings favorable. The sick or tired worker reduces output and increases labor turnover while the healthy, satisfied worker increases production, advances his employer and lowers the cost of turnover. Employer, listen: Eliminate the unhygienic conditions in your plant. Furnish good ventilation, proper lighting, cleanliness and accident prevention devices. Refer your employees to a physician. Maintain a clean department, however small. Teach your people how to work. Teach them how to take care of their health. Teach them how to avoid accidents! Teach them by posters, by lectures and by personal talks. It will pay all around.

"Now finally a word as to the responsibility of the worker. Remember, Mr. Employee, that all industry is becoming more and more specialized, and it is becoming more and more necessary that the individual worker be closely fitted into his part. It is frequently found that the factors such as wages, social position or relatives at the same work influence a person more than anything else in choosing an occupation. The question of the suitability of the employment to the person's physique or temperament is too seldom considered. The employer is therefore applied to by persons who are ignorant of the requirements of the work and who are accepted simply on account of the necessity of the moment.

"The workers, especially in dangerous trades owe it to themselves to get all the sleep and rest they can and to endeavor to keep themselves in the best possible physical condition."

CITY SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY

All of the public schools of the city will reopen after the summer vacation on Monday. Today the teaching staff of the Kingston high school met at the building to get everything in readiness for the opening of the high school. Just what the registration will be this year will not be known until after the sessions get under way. The high school can accommodate 1,100 pupils comfortably, and Superintendent M. J. Michael said today that it would not be necessary to consider part time studies at the high school until the registration had reached 1,500, a mark that has not been met yet.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Apron.

4429. This model is both comfortable and attractive. The back fastens over the skirt portions of the front. Percale with bindings of line one would be a pleasing development. Chintz or cretonne with saten or rick rack for a finish is also good.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, medium, large and extra large. A medium size requires 2 3/4 yards of 36 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern of Ladies, and misses' and children's Department, The Freeman, Roundout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

AIRPLANES FOR LEGION CONVENTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Saratoga Springs, Sept. 7.—Washington has officially endorsed the plan of officials of the Mitchell Field aero station to send a flight of aeroplanes to Saratoga Springs on Friday, September 14, to participate in the Field Day to be staged at the historic Saratoga Race Course in connection with the Fifth Annual Convention of the American Legion, Department of New York next week.

Major George F. Chandler, commander of the New York State Police, has issued orders directing the squad of five picked troopers, with their mounts to return from the State Fair in Syracuse in time to present an exhibition of horsemanship on the same occasion.

State Troopers are also to stage a chariot race over the celebrated course.

Army officials in charge of the Plattsburgh Barracks on Lake Champlain have completed arrangements to send a provisional company of regular army men to Saratoga on the same date for the purpose of staging a modern sham battle.

In addition to this outfit there will be a "Demolition Outfit" of picked men who will present a thrilling picture of the use of high explosives in modern warfare.

Official confirmation of each feature on this unique program is now in the hands of F. Marvin Callan, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Field Day.

Fear that War Department restrictions—there being a fixed policy against aerial exhibitions unless held in conjunction with state maneuvers—would compel the abandonment of plans for an "Aerial Circus" in connection with the Legion Convention was dissipated with an announcement from Washington that "a flight of planes" would be sent to Saratoga as a part of the "Recruiting Campaign." This means that from three to seven planes will participate in the "sham battle," give exhibition stunts and serve the latest "thrillers" as developed by government airmen in the struggle to develop the aircraft arm of the federal service. It will be a sight which will attract persons from all sections of the state, being the first of its kind to be held outside Mitchell Field in this section of the country.

New York's State Troopers have built up a reputation for horsemanship on a par with the greatest mounted outfits in the world. Special care has been given to the selection of the squad of five which is to represent the department at the state fair. Each man was chosen through elimination tournaments. This is the same squad which will participate in the Legion's Field Day. The men will have mounts which have been developed from the finest strains. Of particular interest will be the jumping exhibition because of the facilities provided at the race track through the celebrated Steeplechase Course. Another squad of troopers will stage the chariot race over the "outside course," of the racing plant. There will be at least three chariots each drawn by four horses.

More than ordinary interest is attached to the "sham battle." This feature will send into action seasoned army men. On a small scale, all the activities of a modern battle will be brought before the eyes of thousands expected to attend. There will be a barrage, infantry charge, field pieces in action, one-pounders in the wake of these and finally the exhibition by the "Demolition Squad." American Legion officials consider themselves extremely fortunate in being able to present those features to the former service men or their friends who will be in Saratoga for the sessions of the convention.

This Field Day is to be held immediately after the mammoth military parade which is to be staged early Friday afternoon. Every American Legion Post in the state will be represented in this parade which will be led by the "home post" of State Commander Albert S. Callan of Chatham. Out of courtesy to the retiring commander Chatham Post was permitted to take this position. All music in the parade will be furnished by American Legion Post bands. After the parade and field day there will be a competition in Congress Park for the purpose of selecting the best band. A similar test will be held for Legion Fife and Drum Corps.

Friday, September 14, is looked forward to as one of the biggest days in the history of the American Legion in this state.

CONTENTS OF OCTOBER

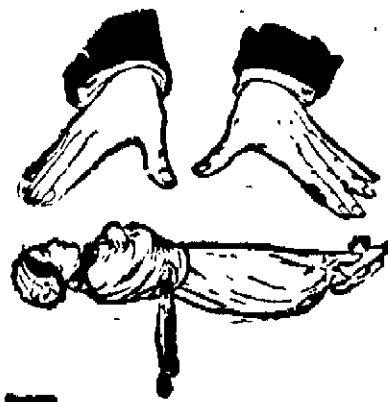

HOME COUNTY MAGAZINE

The October number of The Home County Magazine, out next week, is of unusual interest to those readers living in or interested in the Hudson valley. Not only does it contain the usual amount of old home reminiscences, but there is a half tone reproduction on the cover page of a rare old painting of the historic old Revolutionary tavern at Chester, N. Y., known as the Yelverton Inn, with a sketch of its association with Washington, Hamilton and Burr and the settlement of the dispute as to the boundaries of the Wawayanda and Cheesecock patents. As the old tavern has long since ceased to exist, this reproduction of the old painting will doubtless be treasured by many for its historic value.

With this number begins a new series of historical articles in which will appear numerous extracts from original record sources of rare and inaccessible records shedding light on the early history of the Hudson valley. While The Home County Magazine is not a magazine of history, the area embraced in its service contains the soil that was the very cradle, not only of the Empire State, but of our nation, because the sons and daughters of this region laid the foundation of our Republic and because this re-to the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "kitchen queen" quits suddenly and the table looks anything but satisfying to a zestful appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Cent-a-Word Department.

gion has always sent forth a large share of those who have been leaders in the affairs of men, it seems proper that space should be given to preserve the memory of their deeds. It is a well known fact that most of our history has been written by New England writers who have presented glowing accounts of Puritan achievement, while they have failed to see what the Colony of New York contributed. The Home County Magazine proposes to publish some of the real facts of New York's record with the documentary evidence behind them.

The editorial page in this issue is given over to Judge Clearwater's speech on the Undervaluation of American Citizenship delivered before the State Bar Association, the report of which has just been published, and the reply of Louis Marshall, together with the views of the editor.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, Sept. 6.—The union school opened on Tuesday September 4, with the same staff of teachers. Miss Helen R. White, the principal, and Miss Caroline G. Anderson, assistant.

The auto parties who spent the past week at Oltry Villa, returned to their homes in Brooklyn on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilson, who were called to this village the past week owing to the sickness and death of Mrs. Sarah Elting, Mrs. Gilson's mother, returned to their home in Rutherford, N. J., on Friday.

Mrs. Alan S. Mackenzie is entertaining her sisters, the Misses Swails, from the city.

The band of Gypsies who have been camping in the lower end of the village the past month, left the past week for their winter quarters in New Jersey.

Miss Neale Anderson of Poughkeepsie is a guest of relatives in this village.

Miss Viola More, who spent the week end with her brother, Henry, and family at Hudson, returned home on Tuesday.

Silas Roosa and mother are to occupy the rooms recently vacated by Mrs. McLaughlin.

Mrs. Isaac Gheer of High Falls spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Morris DeWitt.

Joseph Hill, who was taken to Kingston Sanitarium for treatment the past week, returned home on Monday much improved.

Miss Gertrude McAvoy will enter the New Palix Normal the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Christiana, Mrs. Moore's parents, the past two weeks, have returned to the city.

Miss Delores Hayden has returned to Rahway, N. J., where she will teach school again the coming year.

Miss Gertrude Siontz, who spent part of her vacation with her aunt, Miss Kate Mooney, in this village, has returned to her home in Tuckahoe.

The guests from Oltry Villa spent Friday at Lake Mohonk.

Miss Verna Campbell, who has been spending the summer at Haines Falls, in the Catskills, returned to her home on James street on Saturday.

Mrs. Archibald McLaughlin, Sr., left for her new home in Waterbury on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wright of Haines Falls, N. J., spent the week end with Mrs. Kate Wright of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Jones and baby of Hoboken, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Best and children of Beacon were guests of Joseph McGinn and family over Sunday.

The Rev. James Cameron, rector of All Saints' Church, spent the past week in New York city.

Our beautiful village was filled to overflowing the past week end with summer guests and tourists, many coming here were unable to find accommodations and had to go elsewhere. The Valley Inn alone catered to over one hundred guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLaughlin and children of Waterbury spent the past week with relatives in this village.

It is rumored that the Rosendale Casino will be opened shortly by the McLaughlin Brothers of Kingston, which is very gratifying news for many in this place. All are very glad to see this once popular movie house opened again.

Miss Lois Anderson has returned home from a week's visit with relatives in Troy.

Miss Alvina Crocellus of College Point spent the past week end with Mr. and Mrs. John Oltry, returning home on Tuesday last.

Miss Helen R. White returned on Tuesday from her summer vacation spent at her home in the city of Rochester.

We Are Anxious to Help

The BROWN MOUSE

By HERBERT QUICK

(Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Jennie Woodruff contemptuously refuses to marry Jim Irwin, young farm hand, because of his financial condition and poor prospects. He is intellectually above his station, and has advanced ideas concerning the possibilities of expert school teaching, for which he is ridiculed by many.

CHAPTER II.—More as a joke than otherwise Jim is selected as teacher of the Woodruff district school.

CHAPTER III.—Jim, in his new position, sets out to make staunch friends of his pupils, especially two boys, Newton Bronson and "Buddy" Simms, latter the son of a shiftless farmer. Colonel Woodruff, Jim's father, is little faith in Jim's ideas of improving rural educational methods. His nickname for him is "Brown Mouse," in illustration of an anecdote.

CHAPTER IV.—Jim's conduct of the school, where he endeavors to teach the children the wonders of nature and some of the scientific methods of farming, as well as "book learning," is condemned.

CHAPTER V.—Jennie Woodruff is nominated to position of county superintendent of schools. The school board grows bitter in its opposition to Jim and his innovations.

CHAPTER VI.—At a public meeting Jim foundly condemns the methods of teaching the rural schools, and makes no friends thereby.

CHAPTER VII.—A delegation of prominent women condemn Jim's methods of teaching, but he is stoutly defended by his pupils, especially Newton Bronson.

CHAPTER VIII.—Jim has Christmas dinner at Colonel Woodruff's, and, listening to him, Jennie begins to do some thinking concerning his ability and his prospects.

CHAPTER IX.—In the evening Jim, as well as he knows how, courts Jennie, without, however, making much progress, though she is quickly losing her poor opinion of him.

CHAPTER X.—Jennie, elected county superintendent of schools, receives no more complaints from people of the district concerning Jim's methods of teaching, but she still and herself compelled formally to ask for his resignation. After she has left, Jim is visited by Colonel Woodruff, who strongly urges him to refuse to resign and offers to back him. Jim agrees to stick for a while at least.

CHAPTER XI.—At a meeting of the school board, which had been gathered by Colonel Woodruff, Jim is confronted by Jennie, who upholds him. He conducts an examination of his pupils at the meeting, to prove that he is not neglecting their "book learning," by the introduction of other subjects which he considers of importance. The splendid showing made by the children converts many, who had doubted, to his views.

CHAPTER XII.—The novel ideas which Jim has introduced have been talked about outside the county, and he is visited by Professor Withers, extension lecturer at the State University, who invites him to deliver an address at the next annual meeting of the Farmers' Institute.

CHAPTER XIII.—Professor Withers is impressed by many of the innovations made by Irwin and so informs Colonel Woodruff and Jennie of some what to the astonishment of both. The colonel suggests to Jim that he (the colonel) seek election to the school board replacing Cornelius Bonner, implacable enemy of Jim Irwin.

CHAPTER XIV.—Feigning sickness Newton Bronson, youngster whom Irwin had befriended, and who had been set on the right path, who almost worships the teacher, keeps his father from voting at the school board election, and so a friend of Bonner, and would have voted for him. As it is, Colonel Woodruff is chosen for the position, owing to Bronson's absence.

CHAPTER XV.—Jim convinces the farmers of the district of the advantages to be derived from a co-operative creamery, and it is agreed to establish one. His rise to a position of leadership in the community, and his responsibility, has made a distinct difference in Jennie's feelings toward him, which she is forced to acknowledge to herself.

CHAPTER XVI.—In his address at the Farmers' Institute Jim makes a distinctly favorable impression. After the various school improvements he has introduced, with a considerable advance in salary, and agrees to consider it.

CHAPTER XVII.—Jim's friends urge him to remain at his present post, but he declines, saying he is sure that they are "proud of him."

CHAPTER XVIII.—At a public meeting "Old Man" Simms, Buddy's father, tells of the good he and his family have derived from Jim's teaching and suggestions, and captures the gathering.

CHAPTER XIX.—Jim tells the meeting the various school improvements he will insist on having if he remains in his present position. Some of the listeners consider them almost revolutionary, but the majority approve. After the meeting, Jennie, for some reason, tells Jim she has been the "biggest little fool in the county."

CHAPTER XX.—A party of prominent southern educators range with Jennie to visit Jim's school, to see at first hand the workings of his system, which has been widely commented on throughout the county. An agent is there with an offer to supply the equipment of the creamery. Jim has the child prove his honesty and integrity, and the price he asks is extortionate.

CHAPTER XXI.—After the agent has left in deep disgust, the southern educators are given an idea of the progress which Jim has made so successful. They are deeply impressed, and say so, predicting a brilliant future for the "Brown Mouse."

CHAPTER XXII

And So They Lived— And so it turned out quite as it was in the old ballad, that "all in the merry month of May," and also "all in the merry green wood," there were great doings about the little promontory where once stood the cabin on the old wood-lot where the Simms family had dwelt.

The brook ran about the promontory, and laid at its feet on three sides a carpet of blue-grass, amid clumps of trees and wild bushes. Not far ahead on either hand came the black corn-land, but up and down the bluff sides of the brook for some distance on both sides of the King-dragged highway, ran the old wood-lot, now reclaiming much of the un-kept appearance which characterized it when Jim Irwin had drawn upon himself the gentle rebuke of Old Man Simms for not giving a whoop from the big road before coming into the yard.

The cabin was gone, and in its place stood a pretty little bungalow, about which blossomed lilacs and peonies and roses and other old-fashioned flowers furnished by Mrs. Irwin. For this was the teacher's house or schoolmanse for the new consolidated Woodruff district, and the old Simms wood-lot was henceforth to be the glebe-land of the schoolmanse.

Jim turned over and over in his mind these new applications of old, historic, significant words, dear to every reader of history—"glebe-land," "schoolmanse"—and it seemed to him that they signified the return of many old things lost in Merrie England, lost in New England, lost all over the English-speaking world, when the old publicly-paid clergyman ceased to be so far the servant of all the people that they refused to be taxed for his support. Was not the new kind of rural teacher to be a publicly-paid leader of thought, of culture, of progress, and was he not to have his manse, his glebe-land, and his "living"? And all because, like the old clergyman, he was doing a work in which everybody was interested and for which they were willing to be taxed. Perhaps it was not so high a status as the old; but who was to say that? Certainly not Jim Irwin, the possessor of the new kind of "living," with its "glebe-land" and its "schoolmanse." He would have rated the new as at least quite as high as the old.

From the brow of the promontory, a light concrete bridge took the pretty little gorge in the leap of a single arch, and landed the eye at the bottom of the front yard of the schoolhouse. Thus the new institution of life was in full view of the schoolmanse veranda, and yet shut off from it by the dry moat of the brook and its tiny meadow of blue-grass.

Across the road was the creamery, with its businesslike unloading platform, and its addition in process of construction for the reception of the machinery for the co-operative laundry. Not far from the creamery, and also across the road, stood the blacksmith and wheelwright shop. Still farther down the street were the barn, poultry house, pens, hutch and yards of the little farm—small, as were all the buildings save the schoolhouse itself, which was built, as it should have been, for the future.

And even the schoolhouse, when one thinks of the uses to which it was to be put—kitchen, nursery, kindergarten, banquet hall, theater, moving picture hall, classrooms, manual training rooms, laboratory and counting room and what not, was wonderfully small—Colonel Woodruff said far too small—though it was necessarily so large as to be rather astonishing to the unexpectant passer-by.

The unexpected passer-by this May day, however, would have been especially struck by the number of motor cars, buggies and surreys parked in the yard back of the creamery, along the roadside, and by the driveway running to the schoolhouse. People in numbers had arrived by five o'clock in the afternoon, and were still coming. They strolled about the place, examining the buildings and grounds, and talking with the blacksmith and the butter-maker.

Gradually they drew into the schoolhouse like a swarm of bees into a hive selected by the queen. None of them, however, went across the concrete bridge to the schoolmanse, save Mrs. Simms, who crossed, consulted with Mrs. Irwin about the shrubbery and flowers, and went back to Buddie and Jennie, who were good children but naturally couldn't be trusted with so many other young ones without some watchful.

"There're coming! They're coming!" This was the cry borne to the people in and about the schoolhouse by that Hans Hansen who would be called Hans Nilsen. Hans had been to the top of the little hill and had a look toward town.

Like a crew manning a rigging, or a crowd having its picture taken, the assemblage crystallized into forms determined by the chances of getting a glimpse of the bungalow across the ravine—on posts, fences, trees and hillocks.

A motor car came over the hillock, ran down the road to the driveway to the schoolmanse and drew up at the door. Out of it stepped Mrs. Woodruff and the colonel, their daughter, the county superintendent of schools, and Mr. Jim Irwin. Jennie was dressed in a very well-tailored traveling costume, and Jim in a moderately well-tailored business suit. The fact that when they reached the threshold Jim picked saying that if Mr. Jim and Miss Jennie didn't mind, dinner would be served right soon. It was cooked about right, and the folks was getting right hungry—and such a crowd! There were fifteen in the babies' room, and for a while they thought the youngest Hammy young one had swallowed a marble. She would tell 'em they would be right over; good-by.

There was another cheer as the three elderly and the two younger people emerged from the schoolmanse and took their way over the bridge to the school side of the velvet-bottomed moat, but it was shut off like the vibration of a bell tipped in water by the sudden rush of the shutters into the big assembly room, now filled with tables for the banquet. And here the domestic economy classes, with their mothers, sisters, female cousins and aunts, met them, as waiters, hat snatchers, hostesses, floor managers and cooks, scoring the greatest triumph of history in the Woodruff district. For everything went off like clockwork, especially the victuals—and such victuals!

There was quantity in meats, breads, vegetables—and there was also flavor. There was plenty, and there was style. Ask Mrs. Haakon Peterson, who yearned for culture, and had been afraid her children wouldn't get it if Jim Irwin taught them nothing but farming. She will tell you that the dinner—which so many thought of all the time as supper—was just as well served as if it had been in the Chamberlain Hotel in Des Moines, where she had stayed when she went with Haakon to the state convention.

Why shouldn't it have been even better served? It was planned, cooked, served and eaten by people of intelligence and brains, in their own house, as a community affair, and in a community where, if any one should ask you, you are authorized to state that there's as much wealth to the acre as in any strictly farming spot between the two oceans, and where you are perfectly safe—financially—in dropping from a balloon in the dark of the moon, and paying a hundred and fifty dollars an acre for any farm you happen to land on. Why shouldn't things have been well done, when every one worked, not for money, but for the love of the doing, and the love of learning to do in the best way?

Some of these things came out in the speeches following the repast—and some other things, too. It was probably not quite fair for B. B. Hamm to incorporate in his wishes for the welfare and prosperity and so forth of Jim and Jennie that state one about the troubles of life, but he wanted to see Jennie blush—which as a matter of fact he did; but she failed to grow quite so fiery red as did Jim. But B. B. was a good fellow, and a Trojan in his work for the cause, and the schoolmaster and superintendent of schools forgave him. A remark may be a little broad, and still clean, and B. B. made a clean speech, mainly devoted to the increased value of that farm he at one memorable time was going to sell before Jim's fool notions could be carried out.

Colonel Woodruff made most of the above points which I have scribed from him. He had begun as a reformer late in life, he said, but he would leave it to them if he hadn't worked at the trade steadily after enlistment. He had become a follower of Jim Irwin, because Jim's reform was like dragging the road in front of your own farm—it was reform right at home, and not at the county seat, or Des Moines, or Washington. He had followed Jim Irwin as he had followed Lincoln, and Grant, and Blaine, and McKinley—because Jim Irwin stood for more upward growth for the average American citizen than the colonel could see any prospect of getting from any other choice. And he was proud to live in a country like this, saved and promoted by the great men he had followed, and in a neighborhood served and promoted, if not quite saved, by Jim Irwin. And he was not so sure about it not being saved. Every man and nation had to be saved anew every so often, and the colonel believed that Jim Irwin's new kind of rural school is just as necessary to the salvation of this country. "I am about to close my speech," said the colonel, "and the small service I have been able to give to this nation. I went through the war, neighbors—and am proud of it; but I've done more good in the peaceful service of the last three years than I did in four of fighting and campaigning. That's the way I feel about what we've done in Consolidated District Number One." (Vigorous and long-continued applause.)

"Oh, Colonel!" The voice of Angie Talcott rose from away back near the children. "Can Jennie keep on being county superintendent, now she's married?"

A great guffaw of laughter reduced poor Angie to tears; and Jennie had to go over and comfort her. It was all right for her to ask that and they ought not to laugh at Angie, so there! Now, you're all right, and let's talk about the new schoolhouse, and so forth. Jennie brought the smiles back to Angie's face, just in time to hear Jim tell the people amid louder cheers that he had been asked to go into the rural school extension work in two states, and had been offered a fine salary in either place, but that he wasn't even considering these offers. And about that time, the children began to get sleepy and cross and naughty, and the women set in motion agencies which moved the crowd homeward.

And about that time, the children began to get sleepy and cross and naughty, and the women set in motion agencies which moved the crowd homeward.

Before a bright wood fire—which they really didn't need, but how else was Jim's mother to show off the little fireplace—sat Jim and Jennie. They had been together for a week now—this being their homecoming—and had only begun to get really happy. Jim sat looking into the fire, oblivious of it. When Jennie spoke, her voice seemed to emanate from Jim's shirt front.

"Did you hear," said she, "what Angie Talcott asked?"

"Well," said Jim, "now that I'm married can I go on being county superintendent?"

"There was a long silence.

"Would you like to?" asked Jim.

"Kind of," said Jennie; "if I knew enough about things to do anything worth while; but I'm afraid that by rising to my full height I shall always just fail to be able to see over anything."

"You've done more for the schools of the county," said Jim, "in the last year than any other county superintendent has ever done."

"And we shall need the money so like—so like the dickens," was Jennie's rejoinder.

"Oh, not so badly," laughed Jim, "except for the first year. I'll have this little farm paying as much as some quarter sections when we get squared about. Why, we can make a living on this school farm, Jennie—or I'm not fit to be the head of the school."

There was another silence, during which Jennie took down her hair, and wound it around Jim's neck.

"It will settle itself one of these days anyhow," said he at last. "There's enough to do for both of us right here."

"But they won't pay me," she protested.

"They don't pay the ministers' wives," said Jim, "and yet, the ministers with the right sort of wives are always the best paid. I guess you'll be in the bill, Jennie."

Jim walked to the open window and looked out over the still landscape. Down in the little meadow grew the dreaming trees, their round crowns rising as from a sea not quite to the level of the bungalow, their thrifty leaves glistening in the moonlight. Across the pretty bridge lay the silent little campus with its Twentieth century temple facing its chief priest. It was all good, without and within.

He went across the hall to bid his mother good night. She clung to him convulsively, and they had their own five minutes which arranged matters for these two silent natures on the new basis forever. Jennie was in white before the mantle when he returned, smiling at the inscription thereon:

"Let Us Cease Thinking So Much of Agricultural Education, and Devote Ourselves to Educational Agriculture. So Will the Nation Be Made Strong."

"Why didn't you put it in Latin?" she inquired. "It would have had so much more distinction."

"I wanted it to have meaning instead," said Jim. "And besides, nobody who was at hand was quite sure how to turn the Latin phrase. Are you?"

Jennie leaned forward with her elbows on her knees, and studied it.

"I believe I could," said she, "without any pony. But after all, I like it better as it is. I like everything, Jim—everything!"

[THE END.]

FROM ELECTRIC LIGHTS TO HIGH 3 FERTILIZER.

All Interests of Farm Represented in College Exhibit.

From the production of electricity by water power for the farm and home to the best fertilizers for New York crops is the range offered in the exhibits to be shown by the state college of agriculture at this year's state fair at Syracuse, the dates of which are September 10-15.

Except for the boys' and girls' work and the exhibits of the department of vegetable gardening, the Cornell displays will be housed in the state institution building. The central exhibit will show good and bad plantings around a home; the front elevation of a full-sized house will be employed. The big waterwheel, producing electricity for farm operations and for labor-saving devices in the kitchen, shown in a neighboring booth, again will be offered.

The soils specialists will show why it pays to use the "New York high five," the five fertilizer formulas which will meet all the needs for New York crops. The exhibit will explain also why high grade fertilizers are really cheaper than the low grade.

That it pays to plant better strains of seeds will be the story the plant breeders will tell through displays of the results of planting better oats, wheat, barley, rye, corn and potatoes.

The forestry department will emphasize the reasons for reforesting New York's barren lands.

A live cow and an equally live attendant will help the dairy department show that the three essentials to the production of good milk are a clean cow and herdsman, carefully cleaned utensils and proper cooling.

A view of a winter exterior of a farm yard and the living room to which the door gives entrance will help the publication office to tell fair visitors that they can get help from the college by mail, both in bulletins and correspondence courses.

The poultry workers will enter their exhibit this year on caponizing.

Allow Your Feet the Same Freedom

YOU wouldn't put metal splints in the palms of your hands and expect your hands to perform efficiently! Give to your feet the same freedom which your hands have. Ordinary shoes and shoes with built-in metal arch supports prevent the foot arch from proper functioning. The human foot is flexible and to function properly the shoe you wear should flex at the arch. Cantilever Flexible Arch Shoes are scientifically made to flex with the natural foot movement. The shoe outline follows the natural contour of the foot, permitting ample toe room and free circulation.

In styles for every occasion. Cantilever Shoes are helping women in all walks of life to know the joy of healthy and comfortable footgear.

Miss Murray is famous for her lavishly mounted photo-plays, and it is a fact that in this one she completely exceeds all her previous efforts. Here is the last word in fashion, and the story that is told is throughout fascinating. It's about a queen who fell deep in love with an American, and despaired of ever being able to make him her husband until a revolution simplified matters a lot. And—strangely enough—jazz helps to do it. To understand the unusual charm of the picture you must see "Jazzmania."

BAD DETOUR ON ROAD TO ALBANY

Now Necessary to Use 22 Miles of Often Dangerous Country Road to Get by Less Than Four Miles of Construction Near Cementon—Use East Side of River Advises Auto Club.

The good roads committee of the Ulster County Automobile Club, with Dr. H. F. Meinhardt, secretary, has been making an inspection of the roads in the northern part of Ulster and southern part of Greene counties, and strongly recommends that tourists intending to travel between Kingston and Albany cross the Hudson river either by the Rhinebeck or Saugerties ferry and make the trip on the east side of the river.

On account of the construction now in progress between Cementon and Catskill, a distance of less than four miles, it is necessary to make a detour of twenty-two miles, over a road which is narrow and dusty, and in rainy weather is very wet and dangerous. The detour starts near the Cementon church, and passes thence through Asbury, High Falls and Kiskatom. The twenty-two mile detour is through country which has much natural beauty but the highway never was intended for heavy travel of the kind it is now carrying. One stretch of several miles in Greene county recently was improved as a town road, but under the heavy travel over it since it became part of the twenty-two mile detour the topdressing of gravel is rapidly disappearing.

Detour signs have been posted by the Catskill Chamber of Commerce, but the regulation detour signs required when a road is under construction are not properly erected.

When construction was begun on the Cementon-Catskill stretch, it was believed that the construction would be carried on the same as on other highways, so as not to interfere with travel. The contractors have stationed flagmen at the ends of the road and have erected barriers. Many tourists who are signalled by the flagmen vent their feelings on them and appear to hold them personally responsible for the long detour, but the flagmen are simply obeying orders of the contractors.

Both Catskill and Saugerties feel keenly the apparent discrimination which is being practiced by the contractors who are constructing the road between Cementon and Catskill, and efforts are being made to learn whether means cannot be devised whereby the construction work can continue without compelling the public to make a twenty-two mile detour for a four mile stretch.

It's a Queer World.

A parliamentary candidate was being "heckled" in a Scotch village. An old man stood up and asked if it were true that Scotland got £40,000 for an education grant and £50,000 for the maintenance of the volunteers. The candidate said it was, to which the old fellow replied: "Eh, mon, it's something awfu' that the government should waste £40,000 trying to put brains in and then squander £10,000 mair trying to blow brains out! It's a queer world we live in!"

TWO WELL KNOWN M. E. SPEAKERS

To Attend Kingston Group Conference at Clinton Avenue M. E. Church on September Thirtieth.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, resident bishop of the New York Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt, of Plainfield, Vermont, will be present and speak at the annual meeting of the Kingston group of the Methodist Church on September 18. The meeting this year will be held at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. Bishop Wilson is regarded as one of the ablest pulpits orators of the Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Hewitt is a recognized rural expert and as such enjoys a national reputation among Methodists and also among the members of other denominations. The Kingston group includes the three Methodist churches in this city, the Methodist churches at Port Ewen, Esopus, Rifton, Edenville, East Kingston and South Rindout. At 7 o'clock Dr. Crinton, the district superintendent, will hold the second and third quarterly conferences for the above named churches. The program of speaking which has been arranged will start at 7:45.

NEW ENGLAND PLANS FOR ITS OWN SUPPLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 7.—Coal consumers in New England, the greatest anthracite consuming district in the country and consequently the hardest hit by hard coal strikes, may soon be made entirely independent of conflicts in the anthracite fields, if the plans of a group of prominent New Englanders work out.

It was learned today that a group of wealthy manufacturers are planning to launch upon the manufacture of peat on a scale sufficiently large to supply Massachusetts and possibly all New England. They have consulted federal officials upon their project and are understood to be taking out patents upon cheap process machinery.

There are said to be millions of tons of peat in Massachusetts but it has never been found expedient to produce it so long as anthracite coal could be had at fair prices. Rather than be subjected to recurrent anthracite shortages, however, the group of New Englanders are understood to have decided upon peat production.

Prominent in the group are Frank H. Foss, chairman of the Republican state committee of Massachusetts, William Butler, wealthy Boston and New Bedford manufacturer, Lieut. Governor Alvin T. Fuller, Frank G. Allen, professor of the state senate and Frederick Field, treasurer of the United Fruit Company.

CLAN "OLD MAN" HOLDS FORTH AT INDIANA FAIR
Dr. Telegraph to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 7.—Ceremonies which the "old man" has promised to attend and "make the speech of his life" from the race track enclosure, led to an order by Chief of Police Herman Rickoff sending 200 uniformed patrolmen and fifty detectives to the state fair grounds for Ku Klux Klan Day. The "old man" is D. C. Stephenson, grand dragon of Indiana.

The step was purely precautionary, Rickoff explained, as the number of officers would be inadequate to cope with the huge crowd which began assembling early despite threatening weather. Ku Klux Klan Day has not been officially sanctioned by the fair officials nor officially disapproved.

Feeling in Indianapolis was tense because of repeated attacks on Mayor Shank and the police department by the "Fiery Cross," official newspaper, and other agencies. Klan officials predicted a turnout which would tax the city's transportation facilities.

Sale Of Woodstock Bonds.

Lester L. Sagendorf, supervisor of the town of Woodstock, will put up at auction at the court house, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, twenty town of Woodstock bonds of the par value of $1,000 each, payable two on the first day of March of each of the years of 1924 to 1933, both inclusive. The bonds will bear interest at the rate of five per cent. The bonds are issued pursuant to the highway law and for the purpose of paying for the cost of construction of three bridges in said town. The bonds will be first offered separately and then in block.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 7.—The stock market was steady at the opening today, price changes being confined to fractions on both sides. Trading was light. Steel Common rose $\frac{1}{4}$ to 93 $\frac{1}{2}$ and Bethlehem Steel B was moderately higher at 54 $\frac{1}{2}$. Crucible yielded $\frac{1}{4}$ to 67 $\frac{1}{2}$. Studebaker declined $\frac{1}{4}$ to 105 $\frac{1}{2}$. Oils were lower, Producers and Refiners yielding to 24 $\frac{1}{2}$, a loss of about a point. Fractional declines were sustained in Standard Oil of California, California Petroleum and Marland Oil. The rails were neglected. Davison Chemical fell $\frac{1}{4}$ to 49 $\frac{1}{2}$.

The market suffered from a lack of interest during the forenoon trading today, prices moved back and forth with little change in values. Some selling appeared shortly after the opening but the decline petered out when the trading tapered off. The oil stocks were the only group in which the early selling made any appreciable impression on values and even here the range was limited to a point. Pan American Petroleum, Coudon Oil Products and Refiners and Marland Oil fell almost a point each. The steel shares held around last night's closing. Little change was noticeable in the railroad stocks.

A spurt in the electrical stocks featured the afternoon dullness. General Electric rose $\frac{1}{4}$ points to 176 and Westinghouse over 1 point to 59 $\frac{1}{2}$. Houston Oil rose $\frac{1}{4}$ points to 51 $\frac{1}{2}$. The general list, however, continued to hold around last night's closing prices.

College Service at Baptist Church.
The pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, will preach on Sunday, both morning and evening at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The morning service will be especially for those who go away to school or college, and all such are invited to be present. The sermon topic will be "The Privilege and Responsibility of an Education," and will have a message for all young people. An increasing number of young men and women are attending higher institutions of learning, and the spirit in which they meet the duties of life will have a profound influence on the future history of our country and of the world. The church should take a deep interest in those young people who are trying to fit themselves for better work and larger usefulness. Beginning Sunday night the evening service will be resumed, and the pastor will preach on "Seeing and Following Visions."

Society Notes

Beckley-Myer.
Lawrence E. Beckley of New York, N. Y., and Miss Ethel E. Myer of No. 185 $\frac{1}{2}$ Elmendorf street, were united in marriage on September 5, by the Rev. Anson W. Myer of this city.

Garden Club To Have Guests.
Albany, Troy and Schoenectady society matrons will motor to Kingston next Wednesday, where they will be entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Edward Corkendall who will be hostess to the Garden Club. Following the luncheon, a meeting of the club will take place. Mrs. Frederick Townsend of Albany, president, will be in charge. In the event of inclement weather Wednesday, the affair will take place on Thursday.

Riel-Mooney.
Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Mary's rectory, Miss Margaret R. Mooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mooney, of 453 Broadway, was united in marriage to Frank W. Riel, of 184 Hasbrouck avenue. The Rev. J. J. Duffy performed the ceremony. The bride was attired in white georgette crepe over white lace and carried white rose buds and anonsola. Miss Lucy M. Manning, cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid. She was attired in pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by E. J. Nickerson. Both bride and groom have a wide circle of friends who wish them a long and happy married life.

McDonald-Sadeutok.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by the pastor, the Rev. Ignatius Bialdyga, when Bernard McDonald was united in marriage to Miss Stella Sadeutok. The groom entered the edifice on the arm of his brother, while the bride was escorted by her brother. The bride wore a white satin charmeuse with train and veil and a crown of orange blossoms and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Agnes McNellis, who was also beautifully attired in orchid canton crepe with hat to match and carried tea roses. The groom was attended by a brother of the bride. Following a reception held at the home of the bride in Connelly, which was attended by guests from Catskill, Brooklyn, New York, Jersey City and Port Ewen, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Nantucket Beach. Upon their return they will reside in a newly furnished home in New York city. Both the bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and costly gifts, which included a substantial check and a valuable piece of land, a gift from the bride's parents.

Huckins-Owens.
On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock there was solemnized at "Rockhurst," the home of Mrs. J. G. Van Slyke and also Mrs. Jean Clinton Owens, a wedding of much social interest, and one might add historic interest as well, when Olga Van Slyke Owens, only daughter of the late Rev. Dr. J. G. Van Slyke, became the winsome bride of Stuart Huckins of Boston. The ceremony was performed out of doors. Harry Dodge played the wedding march while the bride descended the broad steps of the terrace in front of the house to the green circle at the foot of the steps, which with its screen of young pine trees formed a most artistic setting to the lovely picture. Gowned in Venetian point lace with kirtle of pearls and wearing a long veil which came from Paris, with Duchesse Point lace coronet, worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day, and caught with a bandeau of pearls and orange blossoms, the lovely bride descended the broad terrace steps escorted by her uncle and guardian, Warren C. Van Slyke, of New York city. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and swansonia and wore pearls, the gift of the groom. Miss Ruth Shafer of this city was the maid of honor and looked charming in a gown of orchid crepe, with picture hat of grape velvet with shaded plume. She carried Ophelia roses. Exceedingly dainty and sweet was little Miss Jane Harder of Philmont, N. Y., the flower girl, in her frock of orchid-green organdie, carrying a basket of sweet peas and rose buds. The best man was Frederick Pratt of Boston. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D., pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church, was especially written and used by the late Rev. Dr. Van Slyke for the marriage of the bride's mother. It was used for the second time when Dr. Van Slyke's granddaughter was married. Following the ceremony a reception was formed entering the spacious flower adorned residence, where the reception was held. Mrs. Huckins wearing a creation of black lace, and Mrs. Owens in a gown of taupe crepe over rose, assisted the bride and groom in receiving the hundred and fifty guests, the great majority of whom came from out of town: California, Virginia, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New York city and points all along the Hudson valley. Among the profusion of exultants and valued guests was one of particular interest, because of its romantic history, connected therewith. In honor of his twenty-five years of service as pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church, the Rev. Dr. J. G. Van Slyke was presented with a beautiful silver tea service. At the time of the marriage of his only son, Warren C. Van Slyke, this silver service was presented to him by the family and counted by him as one of his most deeply prized gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Van Slyke on the occasion of the marriage of Dr. Van Slyke's only grandchild have now presented this silver service to the bride of Thursday. Following the wedding collation (Mrs. Daley catering) Mr. and Mrs. Huckins left for their wedding journey to Bermuda. On their return they will be "at home" at 41 Linnaean street, Cambridge, Mass. The bride, whom we count as one of Kingston's fair and gifted daughters, is a graduate of Kingston High School and of Vassar College. She

4 AUTO THIEVES GIVE HIKER "LIFT"

George Flire of Brooklyn Tells Police of Experience.

George Flire of Brooklyn, a hiker, who was given a ride by automobile thieves, set the Albany police on the trail of four men believed members of a ring of automobile bandits. When just outside of Kingston Flire told the Albany police, he halted an automobile and was given a ride. Two men riding in a car ahead were of the same party, he declared. When at Coeymans, the first automobile was crippled and purposely ditched. The machine in which he was riding towed it as far as Sekirk, where the men removed a spare tire and rode away, leaving Flire to watch the disabled machine until they returned. After several hours Flire notified the police of the first precinct and waited until Patrolman Alfred Greenwood arrived. Flire said he had obtained the license number of the machine that drove away. Both had New Jersey licenses and the Albany police have notified the authorities of that state of the recovery of one of the machines.

Onions—Receipts were light from Orange county as well as from up-state points; demand moderate, market steady for fancy, large well colored reds and yellow but slightly weaker for whites partly due to the small size of stock, Orange county, all sections, various varieties, per 100 lb. sack, red, best, 2.40-2.50; fancy, large, few small sales, 2.60; ordinary, 2.00; small, 2.00, yellow, best, 3.00-3.25; fancy, large, few small sales, 3.50; ordinary, 2.75-2.85, per bushel basket, white, 1.50-2.00, upstate yellow, per 100 lb. sack, 2.25-2.50.

Peas—Receipts were light, however, some consignments remained unsold since yesterday, due to the very late deliveries; demand moderately active only for fancy; market steady. Per bushel basket, various varieties, all up-state sections, best, mostly 3.50-3.75, fancy, few small sales, 4.00-4.50, ordinary, 2.50-3.00; poor, as low as 1.50, per bushel basket, best, 3.00 to 3.25; fancy, few sales, 3.50-3.75; ordinary, 2.00-2.50.

Romaine—Supplies were rather light from all up-state sections, demand active, especially for fancy, clean, large sized well headed stock, market slightly stronger. Per crate or hamper, various varieties, all sections Orange county, mostly 75-85c; western New York, best, 85-90c; fancy, large, few small sales, 1.00-1.12½; ordinary, 65-75c.

Tomatoes—Supplies were liberal from the Hudson River Valley, demand rather limited, market dull and weak. Hudson River Valley, all sections, per 6-till carrier, various varieties, best, 1.25; fancy, large, 1.50, ordinary, 75c-1.00, per 12 quart basket, best, 50-60c, fancy, large, 65-75c; ordinary, 40c, green, per bushel basket, 1.00-1.50.

Spinach—Receipts were more plentiful from Orange county but fairly liberal from nearby; demand limited, market dull with prices irregular. Per bushel hamper, various varieties, Orange county, all sections, Savoy, 1.00-1.25; fancy, 1.50; flat leaf, 50c-1.00.

Hasbrouck Claim Testimony Postponed

An adjournment until after primary day has been taken by the commission which is hearing evidence in the Hasbrouck damage claim which grows out of the taking of lands by the county of Ulster for approaches to the Rondout Creek Bridge. Several hearings have been held and considerable testimony taken in regard to the damage to the Hasbrouck estate at Slightsburgh. A further hearing was scheduled for Thursday but was adjourned until a later date.

GOETHALS AGAIN FUEL DIRECTOR

If Governor Calls On Legislature to Enact Emergency Coal Legislation—His Town Bus Ownership Would Also Come Up.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Sept. 6.—General George W. Goethals will be asked by Governor Smith to assume the duties of state fuel administrator in the event the governor calls an extraordinary session of the legislature and emergency coal legislation is enacted, it was reported on good authority here today.

General Goethals served as state fuel chief last winter at the request of Governor Smith, following the resignation of William H. Woodin, who was appointed to that office by former Governor Miller.

General Goethals' salary last winter as fuel administrator was $2,500 a month, and it is expected the governor will recommend an appropriation sufficient to provide such a salary.

It is believed the governor will recommend emergency legislation closely following the lines of that recommended by his predecessor, Governor Miller, in an effort to provide drastic power for the state to cope with the coal shortage—if one comes.

At first it was believed the governor could appoint a fuel administrator without a special session of the legislature, but the attorney general's office ruled the emergency legislation passed out of existence last April when the governor abolished the office of fuel chief.

The governor is supposed to give members of the legislature at least 20 days' notice in convening both houses in special session. For that reason, should the governor announce a special session within the next few days, it probably will not take place before the last week in this month or possibly the first week in October.

There is good reason to believe that if the governor does call a special session to act on coal he also will ask the lawmakers to enact special measures to permit New York city, Buffalo, Schenectady and other cities to own and operate bus lines.

Friends of the governor declare he will not ask the lawmakers to enact his proposed reconstruction measures which were killed at the last regular session.

The wheat-belt is described as the agricultural "sore-spot." It is said that New York does not raise enough wheat to feed New York's chickens.

Uncle Ab says: It's a hopeful fact that most of the folks who make places for themselves in the world are only a little better than the average.

If you haven't a farm bureau organization in your community, or are not getting the benefit of help from your college of agriculture, write to that college at Ithaca for Bulletin E-63 that tells about the extension service.

In Hawaii, the experiment station is trying pigeon peas as wind breaks for pineapples. In New York the experiment stations are working on problems that sound quite as queer to the Hawaiians. But all agriculture is closely related, at least.

MORE ROOM FOR WORK OF JUNIORS AT FAIR

Buildings at Syracuse Turned Over To Boys and Girls.

The two southern buildings of the horticultural group on the state fair grounds at Syracuse will be entirely occupied by boys and girls and their activities at this year's fair, September 10-15.

The one at the extreme south will be devoted to junior extension. It will be divided into a number of large booths or sections, each of which will set forth some special phase. In the clothing project booth, for example, will be placed all the girls' clothing exhibits, and the clothing project demonstrations by girls' teams will be given there. Other booths will similarly represent other lines.

The other building will house the school exhibits and several features of the department other than junior extension, in the portion formerly the little country theater auditorium. The stage will remain as an exhibit for those interested in amateur dramatics, while the western portion of that building will be used as a dormitory for the boys who are guests of the fair commission.

Dormitory Plans.

It is expected that about a hundred boys and girls and their leaders will spend the week at the fair as guests of the commission. These youngsters will give daily demonstrations in the various phases of junior extension which they represent. Every effort is being made to provide for their comfort and safety, as well as to make their visit profitable from the educational viewpoint.

Comfortable sleeping quarters will be provided; the boys, as already stated, will be in the country theater building; the girls are to be on the second floor of the hospital building. Food prepared in accordance with nutritional needs will be provided. A trained camp director will have charge, with a special woman adviser for the girls.

A program of educational trips, talks, and good times is already taking shape.

Those in charge of the department promise that with the increased space available and the liberal provisions of the fair commission, the boys' and girls' department will be a real feature of the fair.

The Rochester exposition also made liberal provision for junior work at its early September show. Monroe county projects will feature the exposition, and a stock-judging contest for boys and girls is planned.

NOTICE OF BOND SALE.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, Supervisor of the Town of Woodstock, in the County of Ulster, in the State of New York, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the County Court House in the City of Kingston, in said County, on the 11th day of September, 1923, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., twenty (20) bonds of the Town of Woodstock, of the par value of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, payable two (2) on the first day of March of each of the years of 1924 to 1925, both inclusive, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5%) per annum, payable annually on the 1st day of March of each and every year.

Said bonds are issued pursuant to Sections 27 and 28 of the Highway Law and Sections 12, 13 and 14 of the County Law and Sections 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the General Municipal Law, and pursuant to an act of the Board of Supervisors of Ulster County passed on the 1st day of August, 1922.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying for the cost of construction of three bridges in said town.

Said bonds cannot be sold for less than par value.

Terms of sale may be obtained by applying to John W. Eckert, County Attorney, Ulster County Savings Bank Building, Kingston, New York.

Written proposals may be submitted in accordance with the terms of sale.

The bids for the bonds will be received in lump sum only and not on a percentage basis.

The bonds will be first offered separately and then in block.

In event the aggregate of the bids for the separate bonds exceeds the highest bid, the bonds will be struck down to the highest bidder for the individual bonds, but in event the highest bid for the bonds in block equals or exceeds the aggregate of the amount of the bids for the single bonds, the bonds will be struck off to the block bidder.

No bid shall be binding upon the town until the bonds have been offered both ways and actually struck off to the purchaser.

The bonds will bear date September 8th, 1923.

The town will not be liable to the purchaser or any other person for any allowance for attorney's fees in relation to said bonds or for investigating the validity thereof.

Dated, August 25th, 1923.

DEMPSEY REVERTS TO FAMOUS SHIFT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The famous shift which made Jack Dempsey a world's champion, and which he discarded a brace of years ago so that he might become a nice, refined boxer, is visibly present again.

For the first time since he trained for Georges Carpentier, the champion had been employing that baffling ring trick. His success with it during the past two days proves that he has not lost the knack, even because of disuse.

Dempsey's natural style is a crouch well toward his right side. But when he decides to use his shift, he straightens up slightly, makes a bluff lead with his left, bluffs with a right and then drives in with the left. Sometimes he varies it by blurring with his left and then shooting his right. Against Farmer Lodge he faked a left, then faked a right, faked another left and then landed with his right, going through the whole ceremony so quickly that the eye could hardly follow his movements.

The very fact that Dempsey is resorting again to the shift seems to be a tip off that when he tackles Luis Firpo he will toss all his boxing skill to the four winds and do what he used to do in the days before he decided to achieve scientific greatness. Without a doubt he will step right into Firpo and make it a slug-fest match with the tap of the first bell.

In one way or another, Dempsey, in his training here, is unconsciously tipping off his battle plans. One thing is certain and that is when the first gong bangs Jack Dempsey will race into Luis Firpo with all the speed that he has, try for a left hook to the chin and, if no lands, will attempt to beat Firpo into a state of coma even before the Argentine battler can recover from the shock of the first punch.

Dempsey in these days here has exhibited conditions infinitely beyond anything he exhibited in Montana. There he was performing in eccentric fashion. But during the last few days here he has been coming out from under cover and fairly hurling himself at his foeman, fighting with everything he had—fighting with the savagery and the instinctive ability which made him world famous.

Dempsey has been doing little else during this week than swinging left hooks. Apparently that will be his main method of attack against Firpo and he is striving to achieve marksmanship with it. He has been training with considerable regularity and with greater power than he has ever put into the punch itself.

"The Firpo seems to be a little different type of battler than I have ever met before, so I am doing special training for him," said Dempsey.

FIRPO BECOMES MAN OF MYSTERY

Shows The World Nothing But a

Wild Free Swing of Ponderous Right—Real Work In Secret.

By Davis J. Walsh.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7.—"Fight hard, spare no effort. Your countrymen are watching and praying for you."

The above is a free translation of the instructions received by Luis Firpo today, via cable, from Felix Bunge, the correspondence course trainer in Buenos Ayres. Luis was at his wits' end when he received them. Now everything is all right. He must fight hard and spare no expense. That much is plain. He might have entertained other ideas on the subject but these will be discarded with all due haste. Felix has spoken. He will be obeyed.

When challenger digested the contents of the message, he shrugged an eloquent shoulder and dismissed the matter forthwith. There was nothing else to do with it.

However much or little he may have appreciated Felix's good offices, their portent did not disturb him because they were typical of the hit or miss system that prevails in the camp here. Firpo is following his own ideas of condition and everyone is dissatisfied with them, with the possible exception of the gentleman himself. His self esteem on the eve of his bout with Jack Dempsey is colossal.

It is not a matter of record that the rest of his training menage shares his confidence in the impending issue. One of his sparring partners, whose identity is withheld for obvious reasons, had this to say today in connection with the fight:

"All that Dempsey needs to do is to keep shifting to his right and Firpo will never hit him. Luis places all his reliance in his right hand but he cannot land it if Dempsey steps to the right and at the same time leads with a left hook."

"Firpo is wide open for this punch. I can land it on him at will but my punch lacks the power necessary to stop his rushes and invariably he gets to me. A harder puncher would bring him up short with a left hand."

We have tried to get Luis to lead with his left and follow with his right in the orthodox manner but he cannot seem to learn. He will lead with the left, then step back, set himself and let fly with the right. The case in a nutshell is that Firpo must depend on his old, free swinging style. Against Dempsey he will be like a hunter going after a fox with a cannon. He has the punch and he might land it. If I were in his place I would go in there swinging with the idea of making it a short fight and a merry one."

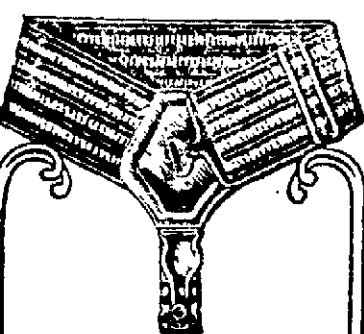

Every one is agreed that Firpo has been a little mountebank in his training bouts here. However, he may have something up his sleeve besides the hair on his arm. He has been indulging in secret morning workouts in the garage near his Chelsea cottage and merely bluffs in the afternoon for the benefit of the innocents. It is said. In short, he will be mysterious to the end.

COLONIALS WIN AGAIN

From the Poughkeepsie Red Sox—Game Played at Poughkeepsie—Culliton on Mound for Local Club—Auer and McDermott Hurl for Poughkeepsie—Dahn, McCue and Sheekard Hit Homers—Score 9-5.

For the fourth time this year, the Poughkeepsie Red Sox went down to defeat before the Colonials on Thursday afternoon at the Red Sox Park in Poughkeepsie. The contest was a free hitting one throughout and both teams managed to get ten hits. However, the Red Sox had four errors chalked up against them while the Colonials played errorless ball, which accounts for the disparity in the scores.

Bud Culliton was on the mound for the local club and although he was hit rather hard he kept the blows fairly well scattered. Auer, formerly with Maggie Riley's Devil Dogs, was on the mound for the Poughkeepsie club for four innings after which he was relieved by McDermott. The Colonials found Auer for seven hits and their nine runs. McDermott only allowed the local club three hits during the three innings that he was in the box.

Two of the Colonials, McCue and Dahn, took the measure of the Red Sox left field fence and hit for the circuit. Sheekard, the Red Sox manager, also hit a homer. Both McCue's and Dahn's clouts came with men on the bags, while there was no one on when Sheekard hit.

How They Scored. The Colonials pushed three runs over in the first inning. Deegan started the inning by grounding to Fay, who booted it and Deegan was safe at first. Ferry was struck out. McCue hit to Tedford, who booted it also and as a result Mac was safe at first. Then Dahn sent one over the fence and the Colonials had three runs to start off with.

Two of the six runs the Colonials got came in the fourth inning. With one man down Schwab came through with a single. Fay made another error and Robins was safe. Russell went by the strike out route. Culliton loaded the bases with a single. Then Deegan came up and cleared the sacks with a three base blow. Ferry sent a fly to Foster, who obliged by dropping it and Deegan scored. McCue brought in the last two runs with his home run.

The Red Sox scored two runs in the third, one in fourth, and two more in the sixth. In the seventh inning the Poughkeepsie players loaded the bases with two down. Sid Ross was sent in as a pinch hitter, but Bud struck him out, leaving the three men stranded on the bags.
